What is your ideal life? What are your goals? What is your level of industry experience? You can design a business around the life you want. Learn the connection between what you think you know about starting a business and what you can actually achieve. Find out what areas will need to be stable in your life to make your launch successful. Evaluate the prospect of full-time self-employment vs. running a business while still working for an employer.

This class is a suggested pre-requisite for entry to Entrepreneurial Development Services (eDev), which helped develop the curriculum.

Lane is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution.
